Marking 65 years of misadventures and marmalade

On a cold Christmas Eve in 1956, British author Thomas Michael Bond stepped into a department store near London's Paddington Station and was drawn to a small toy bear sitting alone on a shelf. At this moment, a beloved character was born.

This charming collection of Special Stamps and souvenirs commemorates the 65th anniversary of Paddington's first appearance. The loveable bear with a hard stare and a fondness for marmalade sandwiches appears on six new stamps featuring delightful illustrations by Ivor Wood, the animator who was instrumental in Paddington's move from page to screen. You'll also discover a fact-filled Presentation Pack, delightful framed collectibles and a limited-edition Medal Cover.

Pay tribute to an enchanting character who's become the star of one of cinema's most-loved movie franchises while remaining a cherished companion for fans around the world.

1 Mint Stamp Set | AS10500 £10.60

- Six new stamps celebrate 65 years since the first appearance of Michael Bond's iconic talking bear.
